Card Of Thanks

I would like to thank everyone for the kindness shown me during my stay in the hospital and since my return home. A special thanks to Rev. H. C. Crabtree, Jr.
Dolly Harvey
10-12-1tc

I wish to thank my many friends and relatives for their expressions of love shown during my confinement in the hospital and since returning home.

I am deeply grateful for the sunshine baskets received from the couples class and adult class and other members of New Hope Church, especially the Rev. Clarence Davis whose inspirational visits gave me strength and trust to accept God's will.

I will be a shut-in for some time to come. Your visits and cards will brighten each day.
Love,
Hazel Harvey

In Memoriam

—In loving memory of Travis Taylor Wooldridge who passed away October 1, 1965.

He has gone across the river
To the shores of evergreen,
And we long to see him dear face
But the river flows between.
Someday, sometime our eyes shall see
The face we love so well.
Someday we clasp his loving hand
And never say farewell.

VA Questions And Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q - Can a veteran use his loan guaranty benefit to purchase a home outside the United States?

A - Loan guaranty benefits are available only in the United States, Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands, Guam and American Samoa.

Q - I am a widow receiving Dependency and Indemnity Compensation. Recently I became entitled to social security benefits. Will my social security payments reduce my DIC?

A - No. The amount of DIC is based on the deceased veteran's military rank. Income is not a factor.

Q - I plan to marry a widow with two children. Will I be eligible for additional education benefits based on these stepchildren?

A - Yes. Step-children living with the veteran are considered dependents of the veteran.

Q - I have a $10,000 National Service Life Insurance policy. I receive a dividend each year and I am using my dividends to purchase paid up additional insurance. Does this additional insurance have a cash and loan value?

A - Yes. Paid up additional insurance has both cash and loan value.

Q - I know I have an overpayment from prior training. Is it possible to have a portion of my monthly entitlement withheld to apply to repayment and continue my education with the remainder?

A - This may be possible. If immediate full repayment would cause undue hardship, you may request this monthly repayment method. Upon VA approval, a withholding will be established to liquidate the overpayment within a defined enrollment period.

Q - What happens to the Veterans Group Life Insurance if the insured veteran failed to name a beneficiary?

A - If no beneficiary has been designated, payment will be made in the following order: (1) widow or widower; (2) child or children in equal shares with the share of any deceased child being distributed among the descendants of that child; (3) parent (s) in equal shares;(4) a duly appointed executor or administrator of the insured's estate; (5) other next-of-kin.

Q - How is my educational entitlement computed while I am enrolled in a correspondence course?

A - Payment is based on 90 per cent of the total charges for the course. One month of entitlement is deducted for each $311 paid.

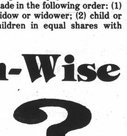
Is Any Risk Worth Taking?
Allan R. Magie, Ph.D., M.P.H.



I was recently shocked by an article which appeared in a well-known scientific journal. It dealt with something in which everyone should be interested--risk assessment. Those are just big words used for weighing the results of taking various alternatives. For example, would it be safer to travel a thousand miles by car than a thousand miles by commercial airliner? That should have been easy. The airliner is by far the safest. In fact, past records of accidents and deaths) show that it's about ten thousand times safer to travel in the United States by scheduled airliner than by automobile.

The conclusion reached in this particular risk assessment was that the risk of cancer from using the artificial sweetener saccharin was less than the risk of serious health effects from being excessively overweight. In other words, if a person was able to maintain a healthier body weight by using saccharin, instead of sugar, he would more likely escape some of the risks to health from obesity--heart disease, high blood pressure, diabetes, etc.--all of which are a greater threat than cancer resulting from saccharin use alone.

Calculations showed that the cancer risk of using the saccharin was similar to the increased health risk of a person 10 percent overweight eating one extra calorie (the amount found in a typical diet beverage). If the artificial sweetener were not used, the 100 calories normally found in such a sweetened beverage would be 100 times as bad!

Unfortunately, such a simple conclusion is very misleading. Because of the delay in cancer development no one is in a position to say just how much risk to human health results from saccharin use. Perhaps there are also other dangers from consuming chemicals that are not yet known.

But there's another side to this. Do we have to make a choice between two health risks? Why should either one be necessary?

Isn't it possible for a person to select healthful foods that allow him to keep an ideal weight? What's happened to that good old-fashioned will power? Keep slim without having to depend on artificial sweeteners and other non-foods.

The choice comes down to this: Use saccharin and risk cancer; overeat and risk heart disease, high blood pressure, stroke, and diabetes--or do neither and be free of such hazards.

After all, it's your choice--and your health.

GREAT SCOT!
By Jack House, The Director Teacher's Scotch Information Centre

"Beware Of Water!"

A remarkably large number of Scottish words come from the French, because of an old alliance between Scotland and France against England. For instance, an Edinburgh University student magazine is called "Gardy-loo!" This may not seem French, but it's derived from that language and here's how:

In olden days modern sanitation was completely unknown in Edinburgh. Refuse was allowed to lie in the streets and the smell was said to be horrendous.

When housewives and servants wanted to get rid of liquid refuse, they would
